NOTES ON NEWS OF THE DAY.

The returns from nearly all the counties in Pennsylvania give a majority of 188,480 against Prohibition. The remaining returns will make it still larger.

The Sultan has sent 200 Turkish pounds to Johnston. The heart of the "sick man" is touched with sympathy for the great calamity that has happened in the "land of the infidel." May Allah bless him.

The alumni of Rochester University undertook to raise $25,000 for Dr. Anderson, the retiring President. The returns are in, and they foot up the handsome sum of $28,192.70. He has earned it all, and it will gladden his declining years.

MARTIN BURKE was indicted in Chicago yesterday as one of the Cronin murderers. His identification as the man who rented the cottage where the murder was committed and bought the furniture for it was perfect. His trial is expected to unfold the entire plot.

VIRGINIA will elect a Governor next fall, and the Democratic convention to nominate a candidate has been called for August 14th. The Republicans will also put up a candidate and try to win. The Democratic majority last fall on President was only 1,539, a decline of 4,494 since 1884. The Governor's term is four years.

THREE hundred persons, a large majority of them being delegates to the meeting of the Patriotic Order of Sons of America, attended the President's reception yesterday afternoon, and one of them, with larger "gall" than the rest, tried to pin a badge of the order upon the President's breast. The attempt was courteously but firmly declined.

The Albany Express says Gov. Hill attended the Island Park races yesterday and took great interest in the proceedings, but did not get a single nod of recognition from the great crowd of leading Democrats on the grounds. Edward Murphy was there also, but did not hunt up or salute the Governor. Albany weather is getting chilly for David.

It is ascertained that Gov. Hill actually signed both the Capitol appropriation and the female factory inspectors bills and that his signature was erased with chemicals. The documents show this. Accordingly the bills were laws as long as his signature remained upon them. The question whether the Governor has the power to repeal a law by the use of an eraser might with propriety be raised over these two cases.

LATER returns from Pennsylvania show that the suffrage amendment was lost. Philadelphia gave it 92,525 majority, but all the other counties voted against it. The majority in opposition is 156,812 with seven counties to hear from. Twenty-nine counties voted for and thirty-eight against prohibition. The banner Prohibition county is Mercer on the western border, which gave 3,856 majority for the amendment.

SENATOR GRADY, who filled out a short term at Albany last winter, found that the bills in which he was interested were not being signed, and yesterday he went to Albany to look after them. The Governor was too busy to see Grady, and he returned to New York in a towering rage. Grady is the same gentleman whom Gov. Cleveland once asked John Kelly to cause to be left at home after a term in the Senate, out of consideration for his "personal complexion and satisfaction." Grady has got a "silver tongue," but it is a little too sharp for a Democratic Governor.

EDWARD HIGGINS, a leader in the May-day Prohibition movement, announces his satisfaction with the result of Tuesday's vote in Pennsylvania. He finds that the opposition to the Prohibition amendment was strongest in the large cities, where the high license law "has been faithfully enforced and has unquestionably done an immense good." Mr. Higgins believes that "outrains will be practically required, and that the restrictions imposed on the liquor traffic by the Brooks (Pennsylvania high license) law and similar measures are steps to the one great end in view."

THE Michigan local option bill passed the Senate yesterday, and now goes to the Governor, who will approve it. The new act has been framed to meet the constitutional defects found by the Supreme Court in the law of 1887. When one-fifth of the voters in a county petition for a local option election, the County Clerk convenes the Supervisors in special session, and this body orders the election. If the vote is for prohibition, the Supervisors may adopt a resolution prohibiting the sale of liquors in the county. Liquor sellers in prohibition counties are made pecuniarily liable for injuries suffered by persons from liquor purchased of them.

Over hundred representative workmen met in convention at Albany last night and denounced Gov. Hill for his veto of the Capitol appropriation bill, which would have furnished 400 men with employment for a year. It was stated in the convention that a labor organization sent a committee to visit the Governor on the subject, but they were not allowed to see him. An attendant told them that they might write to him, and on their declining to do so showed them the door. It is said that the cheap clothes of a workman made never soiled the furniture in the new executive mansion since the Governor fitted it up with beds, carpets, mirrors, musical clocks, conversation chairs, piano and billiard table at the state's expense.

The Pacific Mail steamer Colof, which landed at New York last Friday, brought home its surgeon, Dr. R. W. H. Duncan, sick with yellow fever, and he is now quarantined at his house, 178 Hancock street, Brooklyn. It is ascertained that the Colon had several cases of "Chagras" fever on the voyage from Aspinwall, and that one passenger died on board and another in the Windsor hotel, New-York. The Windsor took in about a dozen of these Central American guests without being informed by Yellow Fever agents. If Yellow Fever gets a foothold now he will have time for a very aggressive campaign before the summer closes.

THE Pacific Mail steamer Coloff, which landed at New York last Friday, brought home its surgeon, Dr. W. H. H. Duncan, sick with yellow fever, and he is now quarantined at his house, 173 Hancock street, Brooklyn. It is ascertained that the Colon had several cases of "Chagras" fever on the voyage from Aspinwall, and that one passenger died on board and another in the Windsor hotel, New York. The Windsor took on about a dozen of these Central American guests without being informed by them of any foothold now he will have time for a very aggressive campaign before the summer closes.

Prohibition Vote in Pennsylvania.

The Amendment Defeated by Over 200,000.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

PHILADELPHIA, June 20.—Nearly full returns of the vote cast on Tuesday for and against Prohibition leave the result—198,194 majority against the proposed Prohibition amendment—about as stated yesterday morning. Complete returns of the vote will doubtless bring the negative majority up to over 200,000.

The suffrage amendment—the vote upon which was somewhat overlooked on Tuesday night in view of the overwhelming interest concerning Prohibition—has been shown under a majority of fully 150,000. In fact but two of the counties gave majorities for that amendment.

VOTING IN RHODE ISLAND.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 20.—Rhode Island is voting on Article 8 of the amendment to the Constitution which amends Article 5 of the amendments, the prohibitory article. ## STRIKE AMONG JOHNSTOWN LABORERS.

"Overhauling Bosses" and Short Ratios are Among the Grievances.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 20.—The strike among the laboring men here is fairly on, and this morning there are not 1,000 men at work. Those employed by McKnight, the Pittsburgh contractor, are idle, and the dissatisfaction and discord are spreading to the other workmen. Overhauling bosses and short ratios, for which the men are made to pay liberally, are grievances.

The military are on active duty, and a local company of the Fifth Regiment has been ordered out, and while everything appears quiet on the surface there is fear that an undercurrent of discord will break out at any time and that a riot will follow. A large meeting of the strikers was held in the open square this morning and their grievances were freely discussed. John Low, of Hallowellburg, presided. A committee was appointed to confer with the men who were in the square, and a number of men in sympathy with the strike. This committee will report at another meeting at noon.

HILL IN THE WEST AND SOUTH.

The Democratic St. Louis Republic is fighting Gov. Hill's aspirations with the breezy abandon and frankness of speech that characterize the "wild and woolly west." Its attacks have attracted national attention, but the Governor and his friends have parried them by charging that the Republic stands alone in its opposition to the great Whisky Hill Priest. To meet this defense the Republic addressed inquiries to the editors of leading Democratic journals in the West and Southwest, first, for an estimate of Hill's strength; second, as to the policy of concentrating the Democratic campaign upon New York and two or three adjacent states; third, as to the wisdom of recognizing the drift of population by taking a candidate from the West or Southwest.

Seventeen responses to these inquiries were received from ten states. Of these, fifteen are opposed to Hill, one (the Louisville Courier-Journal) is non-committal, and the only one that favors him is the Augusta, Ga., Chronicle, a paper which has never been in line with its party on the tariff or any other economic question.

Some of the opinions quoted are interesting as showing a Democratic estimate of the man elsewhere which accords with Republican opinion in his own state. The Evansville, Ind., Courier believes "Governor Hill would be the weakest candidate the Democrats could name, because he represents the idea of expediency in politics, even at the expense of the traditional policies of the Democratic party." The Little Rock, Ark., Democrat considers Hill "the worst candidate and the weakest." The Montgomery, Ala., Dispatch regards "D. B. Hill as the very weakest candidate that could be put forward by a respectable party," because "he represents everything that is pernicious and abhorrent in politics." The San Antonio, Tex., Times regards Hill as "one of the weakest candidates the party could select." The Nashville American thinks him "too small a man for the Presidency," and therefore "not a safe man for the Democratic nominee." The Nashville Banner fears "his nomination would invite antagonism based upon his equivocal attitude in the last campaign," and also upon the Galveston, Tex., News thinks his nomination would not only bring the Democratic party to "ignominious defeat," but to "complete collapse." "For want of a moral basis and of a decent reason for its prolonged existence." The Jacksonville Times Union thinks that "not one Florida Democrat in ten favors Hill's nomination." The Vicksburg Herald is opposed to any New York man. The Richmond Dispatch does not think Hill a strong candidate.

Mr. Hill intends to force himself upon his party by capturing the New York delegation. His followers declare that New York is the pivotal state, and that no Democratic candidate can succeed without its electoral vote. The responses to the St. Louis inquiries indicate serious danger of the creation of pivotal states in the South and Southwest if Hill becomes the candidate. Of what value will the electoral vote of New York be if Missouri, Virginia and West Virginia are lost. The three years to elapse before the holding of the next national convention will be devoted by the solid Democracy, which "runs the machine" at conventions and in Congress, to shaking off the grip of David B. Hill.

A VETERAN JOURNALIST GONE.

Charles S. Collins, the leading editorial writer on the Troy Times staff, died suddenly yesterday. He was engaged upon an editorial article at his desk in the morning, when he suddenly at about 10 o'clock the pipe that he was smoking dropped from his lips and his head fell forward. His associates noticed the incident and found him unconscious. He could not be removed from the office till 4 p. m., when all hope of the recovery of his reason being abandoned, he was carried to his home in the city ambulance. He passed away at 6:10 p. m.

Mr. Collins was about 62 years of age and a native of Rochester. At the age of 16 he began a trip around the world on a whaling vessel, which lasted four years. When the ship was off the Pacific coast during the Mexican war, Commodore Stockton, as commander of the naval and land forces, seized it and compelled the crew to go ashore and take a hand in the conflict. On Mr. Collins' return to Rochester he engaged in the manufacture of sash and blinds with his father, and afterwards conducted a large factory of the same kind at Ravenna, O. At the age of 27 he left his first newspaper work as an editorial writer on the Rochester Weekly Democrat. This paper was soon expanded into a daily, when he became the city editor, a position which he filled with great ability for about ten years. In 1867 he accepted the position of leading editorial writer on the Troy Times, but eight months afterwards returned to Rochester to take editorial charge of the Chronicle, which had been founded by Hon. Lewis Selie. After three years in this position the paper was merged with the Democrat, and he established the Rochester Sunday News Letter. This paper he conducted until February, 1872, when he returned to Troy and resumed his former position, which he filled continuously and with great industry and ability until the sad event of yesterday. Mr. Collins married in 1853 Miss Sophia E. Southwood of Rochester. Of the four children born to them all are dead, and his wife alone survives. The last of his children, a beautiful boy of ten or twelve years, died suddenly of brain fever on the day that he was to have come to Troy in 1867. This bereavement was a terrible blow to Mr. Collins, and cast a shadow over his whole life.

Mr. Collins was an invaluable man in newspaper work, for his reasoning was clear and logical, his language accurate and fascinating, and his mind was a storehouse of personal, historical and statistical information. He was always at his desk, and for years refused the allotted summer vacation which was accorded to all members of the Times staff. Rest, he contended, was more tiresome to him than labor, and a few weeks idleness would break the chain of thought and require extra and laborious preparation to fit him for resuming his work. He was a genial, courteous and agreeable gentleman, hired, were clothed, and their masters paid $2 a month, and Virginia money, was in federal money $3.33. The average rate of wages all over the country was $65 a year, with food and perhaps lodging. Out of this small sum the workman had, with his wife's help, to maintain his family.

THE OUTLOOK IN RHODE ISLAND.

The Prohibition Waterloo in Pennsylvania has had a discouraging effect in Rhode Island, where the amendment adopted three years ago is to be voted upon again tomorrow under the act of resubmission passed by the late Legislature. The friends of the amendment announce through the telegraph the reasons why they expect to be defeated. They say the campaign has been short, they have been hampered by the lack of funds, the press of the state is solidly against them, and to give the finishing blow to their hopes there came the Pennsylvania landslide. In spite of the great advantage of requiring only two-fifths of the vote to win, they are greatly discouraged, and it would not be remarkable if they should conclude to give up the labor and expense of an unpromising contest and allow the "wets" a walk-over.

For this situation the Prohibitionists are themselves to blame. They were too easily satisfied with their moral victory three years ago, and did not attend to the enforcement of the law. When, in consequence of their neglect, the friends of the liquor interest obtained control of the forces to operate the law, they complained that they had been betrayed, and abused both of the great political parties which divide the state almost equally. Cromwell exhorted his followers to "trust in God and keep your powder dry," but the Prohibition movement seems to be "all trust and no powder." In Pennsylvania, after making a very noisy canvass, they made no effort to get out the vote, and even the duty of providing tickets at the polls was neglected. In Rhode Island this utter negligence brought demoralization, the liquor trade took full possession without being subjected to tax, and the demand for re-submission followed. The vote comes at a most inopportune moment. A later date than that of the Pennsylvania vote was chosen, because in the latter state the advocates of the amendment had given out assurances of an easy victory which were too readily believed. It is time that the Prohibition movement was taken out of politics. There are no capable and practical politicians among its promoters. It seems to be in the hands of a lot of noisy and brainless enthusiasts in both of the states named.

PUBLIC OPINION.

There is consternation among the Democratic politicians. Hill, the astute peanut, has broken his shell. —Albany Express.

It is stated by a Dubuque, Iowa, man that not more than one person in 200,000 ever dies when "in a condition of entire intoxication." Isn't this a fine sort of encouragement of drunkenness to come from a Prohibition state? —Troy Times.

Sympathy for any man who had anything to do with directly or indirectly with the brutal and cowardly butchery of Dr. Cronin is sympathy misdirected. It is time this community was beginning to sympathize with itself. —Chicago Times.

A Buffalo woman has given the contents of the little savings bank of her dead child to the Johnstown sufferers. She had long hoarded the precious keepsake and gave it to her darling's contribution. It was a sacred gift and a beautiful thought. —Buffalo News.

The New York Times says the latest talk about candidates for Governor to succeed David B. Hill in 1891, places ex-Mayor Edward Murphy of Troy in the race. Ye Gods! What a picnic that would be to the Republican party. But no—that can never happen for so many astuteness among the defectors in the leadership to allow such a "cinch" as that. —Troy Times.

If Harrison would only go to the slums of Baltimore for some office-holders, or pick out some men who had tried to rob a state government in New England, or choose blatant copperheads or wade knee deep in the loyal blood of the country, and then import and position how happy the free traders would be. —Philadelphia Press.

The Governor avows himself piqued by the small space allotted in the newspapers to his detailed fulminations against certain men and measures vetoed by him. The Governor forgets that this is commencement week and that newspaper readers are more concerned regarding the young gentlemen who are making their salutaries than they are about an old bachelor who is making his valdication. The Governor has been a slick politician but he could not take a degree in philosophy. —Ithaca Journal.

The defeat of the Prohibition cause in Pennsylvania on Tuesday is much more conclusive than anybody expected. The tide had been running to the bottom for certain. The first consequence is that there will be no prohibition party and no prohibition national ticket in the Presidential election of 1892. We mean no party and no ticket that will be of any consequence. The Republicans have demonstrated to the world by their plan and set up their issues without paying special attention to the liquor question. It is a useful thing to get the field clear before the great battle begins. —New York Sun.

There has been, almost since the Irish began to emigrate to this country and to take an interest in American politics, a curious and disgraceful tendency toward a personal campaign proposed to have an influence on the Irish vote. During the last few years this tolerance has been extended to a number of persons, avowedly murderers, but in reality only dead beats and swindlers, who collected a very large sum of money from the Irish people under the pretense of procuring "outrages" in England and in Ireland, and spent a very small part of it in the actual procurement of the outrages. If these people had been anything but professional Irishmen they would long ago have been executing their crimes in prison. —New York Times.

WAGES IN 1800.

What the Workingman Earned in the Good Old Days of "Free Trade and Sailors' Rights."

[From the Scientific American.]
The condition of the American wages class nearly a century ago is full of instruction. In the large cities unskilled workmen were hired by the day, bought their own food and found their own lodgings. In the country they were contented with $8 in summer and $5 in winter. At Baltimore men were glad to be hired at 18d. a day. None by the month asked more than $6. At Fredericksburg the price for labor was $8 to $10 a month, except in Pennsylvania workmen were contented with $6 in summer and $5 in winter. ### HILL IN THE WEST AND SOUTH.

The Democratic St. Louis Republic is fighting Gov. Hill's aspirations with the breezy abandon and frankness of speech that characterize the "wild and woolly west." Its attacks have attracted national attention, but the Governor and his friends have parried them by charging that the Republic stands alone in its opposition to the great Whiskey High Priest. To meet this defense the Republic addressed inquiries to the editors of leading Democratic journals in the West and Southwest, first, for an estimate of Hill's strength; second, as to the policy of encouraging the Democratic campaign upon New York and two or three adjacent states; third, as to the wisdom of recognizing the drift of population by taking a candidate from the West or Southwest.

Seventeen responses to these inquiries were received from ten states. Of these, fifteen are opposed to Hill, one (the Louisville Courier-Journal) is non-committal, and the only one that favors him is the Augusta, Ga., Chronicle, a paper which has never been in line with its party on the tariff or any other economic question.

Some of the opinions quoted are interesting as showing a Democratic estimate of the man elsewhere which accords with Republican opinion in his own state. The Evansville, Ind., Courier believes "Governor Hill would be the weakest candidate the Democrats could name, because he represents the idea of expediency in politics, even at the expense of the traditional policies of the Democratic party." The Little Rock, Ark., Democrat considers Hill "the worst candidate and the weakest." The Montgomery, Ala., Dispatch regards "D. B. Hill as the very weakest candidate that could be put forward by a respectable party," because "he represents everything that is pernicious and abhorrent in politics." The San Antonio, Tex., Times regards Hill as "one of the weakest candidates the party could select." The Nashville American thinks him "too small a man for the Presidency," and therefore "not a safe man for the Democratic nominee." The Nashville Banner fears "his nomination would invite antagonism based upon his equivocal attitude in the last campaign," and also upon his identification with the liquor interests. The Galveston, Tex., News thinks his nomination would not only bring the Democratic party to "ignominious defeat," but to "complete collapse," "for want of a moral basis and of a decent reason for its prolonged existence." The Jacksonville Times Union thinks that "not one Florida Democrat in ten favors Hill's nomination." The Vicksburg Herold is opposed to any New York man. The Richmond Dispatch does not think Hill a strong candidate.

Mr. Hill intends to force himself upon his party by capturing the New York delegation. His followers declare that New York is the pivotal state, and that no Democratic candidate can succeed without its electoral vote. The responses to the St. Louis inquiries indicate serious danger of the creation of pivotal states in the South and Southwest if Hill becomes the candidate. Of what value will the electoral vote of New York be if Missouri, Virginia and West Virginia are lost. The three years to elapse before the holding of the next national convention will be devoted by the solid Democracy, which "runs the machine" at conventions and in Congress, to shaking off the grip of David B. Hill.

A VETERAN JOURNALIST GONE.

Charles S. Collins, the leading editorial writer on the Troy Times staff, died suddenly yesterday. He was engaged upon an editorial article at his desk in the morning, when suddenly at about 10 o'clock the pipe that he was smoking dropped from his lips and his head fell forward. His associates noticed the incident and found him unconscious. He could not be removed from the office till 4 p. m., when all hope of the recovery of his reason being abandoned, he was carried to his home in the city ambulance. He passed away at 6:10 p. m.

Mr. Collins was about 62 years of age and a native of Rochester. At the age of 16 he began a trip around the world on a whaling vessel, which lasted four years. When the ship was off the Pacific coast during the Mexican war, Commodore Stockton, as commander of the naval and land forces, seized it and compelled the crew to go ashore and take a hand in the conflict. On Mr. Collins's return to Rochester he engaged in the manufacture of sash and blinds with his father, and afterwards conducted a large factory of the same kind at Ravenna, O. At the age of 27 he did his first newspaper work as an editorial writer on the Rochester Weekly Democrat. This paper was soon expanded into a daily, when he became the city editor, a position which he filled with great ability for about ten years. In 1867 he accepted the position of leading editorial writer on the Troy Times, but eight months afterwards returned to Rochester to take editorial charge of the Chronicle, which had been founded by Hon. Lewis Seelye. After three years in this position the paper was merged with the Democrat, and he established the Rochester Sunday News Letter. This paper he conducted until February, 1872, when he returned to Troy and resumed his former position, which he filled continuously and with great industry and ability until the sad event of yesterday. Mr. Collins married in 1853 Miss Sophia E. Southwood of Rochester. Of the four children born to them all are dead, and his wife alone survives. The last of his children, a beautiful boy of ten or twelve years, died suddenly of brain fever on the day that he was to have come to Troy in 1867. This bereavement was a terrible blow to Mr. Collins, and cast a shadow over his whole life.

Mr. Collins was an inviolable man in newspaper work, for his reasoning was clear and logical, his language accurate and fascinating, and his mind was a storehouse of personal, historical and statistical information. He was always at his desk, and for years refused the allotted summer vacation which was accorded to all members of the Times staff. Rest, he contended, was more tiresome to him than labor, and a few weeks off would break the chain of thought and require extra and laborious preparation to fit him for resuming his work. He was a genial, courteous and agreeable gentleman, generous almost to a fault, and thoughtless only of himself. Though one of the most effective workers in the Republican party, he was devoid of political ambition, and thoroughly and unselfishly devoted to the work and the success of the newspaper on which he was employed. The place that he vacates will be difficult to fill as he has filled it. "He was a man, take him for all in all, we shall not look upon his like again."

THE OUTLOOK IN RHODE ISLAND

The Prohibition Waterloo in Pennsylvania has had a discouraging effect in Rhode Island, where the amendment adopted three years ago is to be voted upon again to-morrow under the act of resubmission passed by the late Legislature. The friends of the amendment announce through the telegraph the reasons why they expect to be defeated. They say the campaign has been short, they have been hampered with the lack of funds, the press of the state is solidly against them, and to give the finishing blow to their hopes there came the Pennsylvania landslide. In spite of the great advantage of requiring only two-fifths of the vote to win, they are greatly discouraged, and it would not be remarkable if they should conclude to give up the labor and expense of an unpromising contest and allow the "wets" a walk-over.

For this situation the Prohibitionists are themselves to blame. They were too easily satisfied with their moral victory three years ago, and did not attend to the enforcement of the law. When, in consequence of their neglect, the friends of the liquor interest obtained control of the forces to operate the law, they complained that they had been betrayed, and abused both of the great political parties which divide the state almost equally. Cromwell exhorted his followers to "trust in God and keep your powder dry," but the Prohibition movement seems to be "all trust and no powder." In Pennsylvania, after making a very noisy canvass, they made no effort to get out the vote, and even the duty of providing tickets at the polls was neglected. In Rhode Island this utter negligence brought demoralization, the liquor trade took full possession without being subjected to tax, and the demand for re-submission followed. The vote comes at a most inopportune moment. A later date than that of the Pennsylvania vote was chosen, because in the latter state the advocates of the amendment had given out assurances of an easy victory which were too readily believed. It is time that the Prohibition movement was taken out of politics. There are no capable and practical politicians among its promoters. It seems to be in the hands of a lot of noisy and brainless enthusiasts in both of the states named.

PUBLIC OPINION.

There is consternation among the Democratic politicians. Hill, the algebra peasant, has broken his shell. —Albany Express.

It is stated by a Dubuque, Iowa, man that not more than one out of 200,000 ever dies when "in a condition of entire intoxication." Isn't this a fine sort of encouragement of drunkenness to come from a Prohibition state? —Troy Times.

Sympathy for any man who had anything to do either directly or indirectly with the brutal and cowardly butchery of Dr. Cronin is sympathetically misdirected. It is time this country was beginning to sympathize with itself. —Chicago Times.

A Buffalo mother has given the contents of the little savings bank of her dead child to the Johnstown sufferers. She had long hoarded the precious keepsake and gave it as her darling's contribution. It was a sacred gift and a beautiful thought. —Buffalo News.

The New York Times says the latest talk about candidates for Governor to succeed David B. Hill in 1891, places ex-Mayor Edward Murphy of Troy in the race. Ye Gods! What a candidate would he be to the Republican party. But no—that can never happen. There is too much astuteness among the Jeffersonian leaders ever to allow such a "cinch" as that. —Troy Telegram.

If Harrison would only go to the slums of Baltimore for some office-holders, or pick out some men who had tried to rob a state government in New England, or choose blatant copperheads or those who had boasted of their eagerness to wade knee-deep in the loyal blood of the country, and give them important positions, how happy the free traders would be. —Philadelphia Press.

The Governor avows himself piqued by the small space allotted in the newspapers to his detailed fulminations against certain men and measures vetoed by him. The Governor forgets that this is common sense week, and that newspaper readers are more concerned regarding the young gentlemen who are making their salutaries than they are about an old bachelor who is making his valuations. The Governor has taken a sick pill, but he could not take a degree in philosophy. —Albany Journal.

The defeat of the Prohibition cause in Pennsylvania on Tuesday is much more conclusive than anybody expected. The old ship has gone to the bottom for certain. The first consequence is that there will be no prohibition party and no prohibition national ticket in the Presidential election of 1892. The second consequence is that there will be of any consequence. The Republicans and Democrats can alike by their plans and set up their issues without paying special attention to the liquor question. It is a useful thing to get the field clear before the great battle begins. —New York Sun.

There has been, almost since the Irish began to emigrate to this country and to take an interest in American politics, a curious and disgraceful tenderness toward all persons who were supposed to have an influence on the Irish vote. During the last few years this tolerance has been extended to a number of persons, avowedly murderers, but in reality cold blooded and swindlers, who collected a very large sum of money from their deluded countrymen upon pretence of procuring "outrages" in England and in Ireland, and sent a very small part of it in the actual procurement of the outrages. If these people had been anything but professional thieves they would long ago have been hanging their crimes in prison. —New York Times.

WAGES IN 1800.

What the Workmen Earned in the Good Old Days of "Free Trade and Sailors' Rights."

[From the Scientific American.]
The condition of the American wages class nearly a century ago is full of instruction. In the large cities unskilled workmen were hired by the day, and their own food and found their own lodgings. But in the country, on the farms, or wherever a hand was employed on some public work, they were fed and lodged by the employer and given a few dollars a month. On the Pennsylvania canals the day laborer and his wife were housed in the rudest sheds, and paid $3 a month from May to November, and $5 a month from November to May. Road-carriers and mortar mixers, diggers and choppers, who from 1783 to 1800 labored on the public buildings and cut the streets and avenues of Washington, received $70 a year, or, if they wished, $90 for the work they could perform from March 1st to December 20th. The hours of work were invariably from sunrise to sunset. Wages at Albany and New York are 3s. or, at 10s. per cent, 40 cents a day; at Lancaster $8 to $10 a month; elsewhere in Pennsylvania workmen were contented with $6 in summer and $5 in winter. At Baltimore men were glad to be hired at 18l. a day. None by the month asked more than $6. At Frederickburg the price for labor was put at $7. In Virginia white men employed by the year were given £16 currency; slaves, when hired, were clothed, and their masters paid $1 a month. A pound, Virginia money, was in federal money $3.33. The average rate of wages all over the country was $65 a year, with food and perhaps lodging. Out of this small sum the workman had, with his wife's help, to maintain his family.

FROM POINTS FAR AND NEAR.

THE NEWS OF THE WORLD LAST NIGHT AND THIS FORENOON.

A Curious Feature in Ornithology—A Civil Service Rule Amended—A Scene in the Belgian Chamber of Deputies—Accidents—Sons of Veterans of Iowa, Etc.

Consul Nicholson, of Buda Pesth, writes that the use of grass and corn mowing machines was not extensive the past year there. The somewhat costly price of these machines is a disadvantage; and also in several districts oxen are chiefly employed as draft animals, and are consequently not well adapted for employment in the above implements. Moreover, in extensive districts it is expensive and difficult to effect the frequent and necessary repairs. It should be remarked that there has been a certain demand for mowing machines with the Government to allow their construction in the railway factories. Thrashing-machines are being largely used, and the system of a few small cultivators combining together to acquire a steam thrashing-machine is becoming more common. The supply of these steam thrashers of 10-horse and 15-horse power was larger in 1887. The market for agricultural machines in general has grown in proportion, as the home industry is better able to meet the demand. The value of agricultural machines sold in 1888 was about $8,000,000, of which about 5,500,000 were in the form of steam thrashers, and about 500,000 in the form of other machines. The value of agricultural machines sold in 1888 was about $8,000,000, of which about 5,500,000 were in the form of steam thrashers, and about 500,000 in the form of other machines. The value of agricultural machines sold in 1888 was about $8,000,000, of which about 5,500,000 were in the form of steam thrashers, and about 500,000 in the form of other machines.

Judge Prendergast yesterday rendered his decision in the matter of the investigation into the Chicago Insane Asylum. The decision is a long one, but its central idea is in the Judge's reference to the political influences which were allowed to control the asylum. The institution, he says, must be removed from the influence of partisanship in order that the sweet water of charity may not be polluted by politics. The Judge recommends that the asylum be removed from the present site, and that a special session of the State Legislature be called to attend to the matter.

It is stated that it is a serious and reasonable ground of complaint on the part of the great American line that the effect of Interstate Commerce legislation is rapidly diverting the through business between the east and west to the Canadian roads. The Committee on the United States Senate, which recently held its sessions in New York City, were evidently at their wits' end for a remedy for this complication. It is evident that the law must be modified either in its application to American lines, or as to its operation upon shipments through Canada.

In a French village of about 400 inhabitants, 11 of the 74 deaths in eight years were from cancer. Dr. Armand finds that six of the cases of cancer were in a single neighborhood, among persons who used as a beverage cider diluted with dark-colored water from the swampy ground, and that in five of the victims the disease attacked the stomach. These facts are given in support of the view that cancer is a local disease, the swamp water, it is believed, having served as carrier of the contagion.

Elwin F. Wiley, a mason at work in the upper part of the Lenox Building at Lynn, Mass., lost his balance yesterday and fell to the ground, a distance of 65 feet. Wiley started in his descent head downward, but made several rotations before he reached the earth. He landed on his feet in a pile of sand and soft mortar. One of his legs was broken, a shoulder was sprained, and he received several cuts. The doctors think he will recover.

Frank K. Ward shot a young man named Morris Adler in the neck in a Washington saloon Tuesday night, and the wound, which was at first not supposed to be dangerous, now promises to result fatally. The shooting was the outcome of an old quarrel. Ward, until lately, was the leading dairyman of Washington, owning several large lunch rooms patronized largely by department employees.

The members of the Anglo-American Lodge, F. A. M., of which W. A. Waller was one of the founders, met in London on Monday evening to show their regard for the retired United States Consul-General. The sudden death of one of Mr. Waller's children had summoned him to America, and Mr. New received for him a massive silver inkstand and a most complimentary address.

A Mrs. Barnard Taber, living near Wallingford, Ticonderoga, and confined to her bed by rheumatism, remained four hours with her head just out of the water during the recent flood. She was rescued from this position and placed in warm blankets. Strange to relate she has almost recovered from her disease, this treatment doing for her what the Hot Springs had failed to do.

M. Boule has shown the French Academy that animals having affinities with the dogs existed in France in the Miocene epoch, and that the Quaternary epoch had species identical with those of to-day. Ex-President Cleveland, in a letter declining an invitation to attend a dinner given by the Massachusetts Reform Club, says: "I feel that, having returned to private life and engaged in professional work, my indulgence at the present time in such public entertainments as you suggest should be reduced to the minimum of frequency."

The President has amended Rule 10 of the Civil Service rules so as to do away with the limitation of one year within which reinstatement may legally be made to offices within the classified service, so far as it affects ex-Union soldiers and sailors. The change was made upon the recommendation of the Civil Service Commission.

An Old Woman Confesses She Murdered Her Husband Last November.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

WASHINGTON, Ind., June 20.—On November 12, 1888, Richard S. Allen, an aged farmer, was found tied to a tree near his house with his throat cut. It was believed to be a case of suicide. A few days ago, while laboring under religious excitement, the 70-year-old widow of the dead man confessed to two colored servants that she had committed the crime. She said she and her husband had trouble as to who was the rightful owner of the farm, and she gave her husband morphine in his tea. Allen fell asleep. She then tied a rope around his body and making several slashes at his throat with a knife, killed him. She then dragged the body to a tree and tied it there.

THAT INDIAN FOW WOW

NOW BEING HELD AT PINE RIDGE AGENCY, DAKOTA.

General Crook Has a Comparatively Satisfactory Talk with the Leading Chiefs and Squaw Men in Reference to Effecting a Settlement of Matters in Dispute.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

PINE RIDGE AGENCY, Dak., June 20.—The condition of affairs here has somewhat improved. The excitement has subsided, and a better feeling prevails. The Indians are now asking for information singly or in parties of two and three, instead of complaining about the violation of the treaty, which has been the constant burden of their talk.

General Crook has had interviews with many of the prominent Indians and squaw men, and explained the provisions of the bill to them personally with good effect. During the council, General Crook made an address to the Indians, and the Chairman of the Commission, He said that as he had been formally adopted as a member of the Sioux Nation at Rosebud he would expect him to take a more personal interest in their affairs than the other members. He also alluded to another member who is fond of horseback riding, and said they had fat ponies and pretty women and that he could take the choice of their ponies and women to ride about with. In this way he hopes to be able to keep the Commissioners here long enough to have everything properly explained.

Relics of Benedict Arnold.

[From the Albany Argus.]

George Patchen, a resident of Walton, Delaware County, in looking over some old papers, recently, brought to light an interesting relic of Benedict Arnold in the shape of an order from Thomas Wall to Captain Arnold Paine. The document reads thus:

GLoucester, January 9th, 1778.

Captain Arnold Paine:

Please to deliver the three bars of iron I was to have sent you to the Black and white mill, and to let me have your compliance therewith will oblige your friend,

THOMAS WALL.

That the three bars of iron were delivered to Arnold is attested by his endorsement on the back of the instrument, which was later returned to Mr. Wall, of whom the mother of Mr. Patchen was a descendant. The paper is yellowed by age, but the writing is remarkably clear and distinct. Another relic is a leaf from an old ledger, which contains a list of the Black and white mill. It must have been an old-time dulle, for the bill contains charges for four coats, two jackets and other work.

Good Time by a Farm Horse.

An Ulster County farmer has made a pleasing discovery in one of his horses. Last season he worked the animal on his farm at everything that farm horses have to do. Last spring he worked the same horse in the same way. On Wednesday he came to Poughkeepsie and was invited to go out to the Driving Park to take a spin around the track. The same farm horse trotted one mile in 2:43, the second mile in 2:42, and wound up by trotting a half mile in 1:19.

What a Child Said.

[From the Newburgh News.]

Children get parents into various sorts of disrepute. One little Newburgh boy, who is visiting in another city, was taken to church by a relative the other Sunday. It was too early for service to be in progress, but the four-year-old was busy. After looking around for awhile he suddenly leaned over, and in a stage whisper, heard over half the church, he asked, "Grandma, when did the curtain go up? I didn't notice it."

THE NEWS OF THE WORLD LAST NIGHT AND THIS FORENOON.

Consul Nicholson, of Buda Pesth, writes that the use of grass and corn mowing machines was not extensive the past year there. The somewhat costly price of these machines is a disadvantage; and also in several districts oxen are chiefly employed as draft animals, and are consequently not well adapted for employment in the above implements. Moreover, in extensive districts it is expensive and difficult to effect the frequent and necessary repairs. It should be remarked that there has been a certain demand for mowing machines with traders, and an agricultural society has petitioned the Government to allow their construction in the railway factories. These machines are being largely used, and the system of the few small cultivators combining together to acquire a steam thrashing-machine is becoming more common. The supply of these machines is large, and the market for agricultural machines in general has grown in proportion, as the home industry is better able to meet the demand. The value of agricultural machines sold in 1888 was about $8,000,000, of which about 5,500,000 francs represent Hungarian manufacture, or about 500,000 francs more than in the previous year. The machines which should have a large future before them in Hungary are the steam plough. The price of these machines, however, militate much against their extended use. Hitherto no means have been found of meeting this difficulty, as efforts, even when assisted by Government, to produce a cheaper article have not had successful results.

Judge Prendergast yesterday rendered his decision in the matter of the investigation into the Chicago Insane Asylum. The decision is a long one, but its central idea is in the judge's reference to the political influences which were allowed to control the asylum. The institution, he says, must be removed from the influence of partisanship in order that the sweat water of charity may not be polluted by the selfishness of the politician. That the asylum be removed from the present site, and that a special session of the State Legislature be called to attend to the matter.

It is stated that it is a serious and reasonable ground of complaint on the part of the great American rail lines that the effect of Interstate Commerce legislation is rapidly diverting the through business between the east and west to the Canadian roads. The Committee of the United States Senate, which recently held its session in New York City, were evidently at their wit's end for a remedy for this complication. It is evident that the law must be modified either in its application to American lines, or as to its operation upon shipments through Canada.

In a French village of about 400 inhabitants, 11 of the 74 deaths in eight years were from cancer. Dr. Arnaud finds that six of the cases of cancer were in a single neighborhood, among persons who used as a beverage a drink of water, dark colored water from the swampy ground, and that in five of the victims the disease attacked the stomach. These facts are given in support of the view that cancer is contagious, the swamp-water being to have served as carrier of the contagion.

Edwin F. Wiley, a mason at work in the upper part of the Lenox Building at Lynn, Mass., lost his balance yesterday and fell to the ground, a distance of 65 feet. A Mrs. Barnard Tabor, living near Wellsboro, Tioga County, and confined to her bed by rheumatism, remained four hours with her head just out of two water during the recent flood. She was rescued from this position and placed in warm blankets. Strange to relate she has almost recovered from her derangement, this treatment doing for her what the Hot Springs had failed to do.

The Zoological Society of France has noticed with alarm that the swallows returning from Africa have this year avoided their accustomed landing places and have flown to other parts of Europe, east or west, evidently to avoid the many traps set for them on the long French coast. The President has amended Rule 10 of the Civil Service rules so as to do away with the limitation of one year within which reinstatement may legally be made to offices within the classified service, so far as it affects ex-Union soldiers and sailors. An Old Woman Confesses She Murdered Her Husband Last November.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

WASHINGTON, Ind., June 20.—On November 12, 1888, Richard O. Allen, an aged farmer, was found tied to a tree near his house with his throat cut. It was believed to be a case of suicide. A few days ago, while laboring under religious excitement, the 70-year-old man confessed to two colored servants that she had committed the crime. She said she and her husband had trouble as to who was the rightful owner of the farm, and she gave her husband morphine in his tea. Allen fell asleep. She then tied a rope around his body and making several slashes at his throat with a knife, half severed the head from the body. She then dragged the body to a tree and tied it there.

THAT INDIAN POW WOW

NOW BEING HELD AT PINE RIDGE AGENCY, DAKOTA.

General Crook Has a Comparatively Satisfactory Talk with the Leading Chiefs and Squaw Men in Reference to Effecting a Settlement of Matters in Dispute.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

PINE RIDGE AGENCY, Dak., June 20.—The condition of affairs here has somewhat improved. The excitement has subsided, and a better feeling prevails. The Indians are now asking for information singly or in parties of two and three, instead of complaining about the violation of the treaty, which has been the constant burden of their talk.

General Crook has had interviews with many of the prominent Indians and squaw men, and explained the provisions of the bill to them personally with good effect. During the council American Horse made an amusing allusion to the Chairman of the Commission. He said that as he had been formally adopted as a member of the Sioux Nation at Rosebud he would expect him to take a more personal interest in their affairs than the other members. He also alluded to another member who is fond of horseback exercise, and said they had fat ponies and pretty women and that he could take the choice of their ponies and women to ride about with. In this way he hopes to be able to keep the Commissioners here long enough to have everything properly explained.

Insects Destroying Crops.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 20.—Complaints about the destruction of wheat by strange insects are increasing. They come chiefly from the central and western parts of the State, but the ravages of the little bug have already spread to Northern Indiana, and the Secretary of the State Board of Agriculture regards the reports as alarming.

The insect is the "Green Millie," another species of which is the "Red Millie." The latter last appeared in this region 15 years ago and did great damage to growing wheat. The "Green Millie" has not been seen by farmers since 1875, when it also entirely destroyed the wheat crop of Indiana and neighboring states.

Relics of Benedict Arnold.

[From the Albany Argus.]

George Patchen, a resident of Walton, Delaware County, in looking over some old papers, recently, brought to light an interesting relic of Benedict Arnold in the shape of an order from Thomas Wall to Captain Arnold Painé. The document reads thus:

GLOUCESTER, January 25th, 1783.

Captain Arnold, I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of the three bars of iron I was to have of you to Benedict Arnold and charge the same to me. Your compliance therewith will oblige your friend,

THOMAS WALL.

That the three bars of iron were delivered to Arnold is attested by his endorsement on the back of the instrument, which was later returned to Mr. Wall, of whom the mother of Mr. Patchen was a descendant. The paper is yellowed by age, but the writing is remarkably clear and distinct. Another relic is a leaf from an old ledger, which contains a bill against Arnold for tailoring. He must have been an old time duffer, for the bill contains charges for four coats, two jackets and other work.

Good Time by a Farm Horse.

An Ulster County farmer has made a pleasing discovery in one of his horses. Last season he worked the animal on his farm at everything that farm horses have to do. Last spring he worked the same horse in the same way. On Wednesday he came to Poughkeepsie and was invited to go on a driving tour. The same farm horse trotted one mile in 2:43, the second mile in 2:42, and wound up by trotting a half mile in 1:19.

What a Child Said.

[From the Newburgh News.]

Children get parents into various sorts of disrepute. One little Newburgh boy, who is visiting in another city, was taken to church by a relative the other Sunday. It was too early for service to be in progress, but the boy, who was invited to go on duty, was for awhile he suddenly leaped over, and in a stage whisper, heard over half the church, he asked, "Grandma, when did the curtain go up? I didn't notice it."

SPECIAL BUSINESS NOTICES.

IT IS A CURIOUS FACT

That the body is now more susceptible to benefit from medicine than any other season. Hence the importance of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla now when it will do you the most good. It is really wonderful for purifying and enriching the blood, creating an appetite, and giving a healthy tone to the whole system. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla, which is made of the roots of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and not of the leaves of Hood's Sarsaparilla, as the latter is utterly defeated by the peculiar action.

TO MY FRIENDS.

As you are well aware that I would not recommend that which I did not believe to be good, I desire to call to all who need a good, reliable, family medicine, and to all who desire a healthy tone to the whole system, I believe that Hood's Sarsaparilla will do you more good than any other remedy I ever saw.—REV. C. O. COLE.

Rain and Shade Trees—The Busy Hum of Industry—Catholic Mutual Benefit Society—On the Track of Tricky Grocers—What Street Gamins Do—Some Deductions.

A recent exploit of John Maxwell's Italian cat exceeds its former efforts. According to the story told by its owner to-day, a few evenings ago the cat entered the Maxwell store with a fish-line in its mouth. On the hook end of the line was a live eel. Maxwell said that there was no doubt that the cat had "been fishing." Christopher Murray was present when the cat entered the store with the eel. Maxwell and Murray vouch for the truth of this remarkable yarn.

The following seasonable communication appears in the Frederick Journal: "On account of the continuous rain the trees are laden to an unusual degree with foliage, thus causing the limbs to droop more than common, and in many places the sidewalks have become almost impassable on this account. If the Corporation Roadmaster desires to become a public benefactor he will at once cause these lower limbs to be removed."

The memorial monument of the One Hundred and Twentieth Regiment on the battlefield of Gettysburg will be dedicated on Tuesday, June 25. The survivors of the Regiment and friends who will accompany them will leave this City on Monday morning, June 24. Yesterday there reported to Albert Carr, Secretary of the Regimental Association, 125 members of that body, who signified their intention of going.

Frederick believes in early closing, being a liberal man. "Skachey," he said, this morning to his son, "put a sign in the window of this store that says 'close at six o'clock on Sunday nights for the next four weeks.' It will give the clerks a chance for a rest and refreshment. Prizes are partly due, anyhow, Skachey, and we will set a good example."

Between the hours of 12 and 1 o'clock to-day a Delaware & Hudson Canal Company shoveler dropped into the Rondout Creek an iron trimming board. A little slate-pickier volunteered to recover it. One end of a pole was stuck in the bottom of the creek. Down this pole the little fellow went seven times before he recovered the board.

Jacob Brink, aged 77 years, lives on Wall-street. For some time past he has been slightly deranged. Last night he left his house and did not return. Though nearly every resident in the neighborhood went in search of him he could not be found. This morning he returned home and said he had passed the night in Noone's Woods.

It is told of a pious, well-meaning man here that on one occasion while offering up a prayer in Sunday School he referred to the Superintendent in this manner: "And O, God, bless the Superintendent, who has led such a long, tedious Christian life." Even the Superintendent could not suppress a smile.

A Green-street man is the owner of a cow that he covers with a blanket when it is in the pasture lot. The owner, it is said, is so conscientious that he believes that if he did not do so that when it rains water might in some way get into the milk.

At 6 o'clock this morning the atmosphere was so muggy and oppressive that it was believed that the day would be a "scorching," but two hours later the air became clear and a refreshing breeze sprang up.

Albany people come to this City when they want good horses. Yesterday three fine horses were shipped from here to that City for the Beveridge Brewing Company. One of the animals cost $550.

This forenoon a stone weighing over 18 tons, drawn by eight horses, attracted attention on Union-avenue. The avenue will soon be utterly ruined. Such loads cut deep ruts in the road.

"Brickyarders" have a more favorable reputation in this City than at points between Newburgh and Poughkeepsie. In that locality they are not allowed to ride on passenger steamboats.

In "old times," and not more than 20 years ago at that, merchants went to New-York City and purchased their goods. The goods are now sold to them almost wholly by drummers.

A barber claims that no one ever heard of a bald-headed Indian. From that he argues that any man who will go bare-headed at all times will always have an abundance of hair.

When all the coal elevators of the Delaware & Hudson Canal Company are worked at one time, then for a truth it can be said that the "busy hum of industry" can be heard.

Men in the employ of the State are looking for oleomargarine in grocery stores at points along the Hudson River. They are due in this City in the near future.

It is again announced that the Alms Commissioners intend prosecuting saloon-keepers who sell intoxicants seven days in the week and to minors.

This City has its quota of people who figuratively "carry a chip on their shoulders." They think that newspapers misrepresent them, etc.

A Union-avenue merchant boasts that he only pays rent for one place, yet he has two stores. One store he "keeps on the sidewalk."

The sales of oysters and clams during the present month here have exceeded the sale of ice cream. It has been a cold June to date.

ASSESSING PROPERTY IN ULSTER CO.

Statements Made Before the Board of State Assessors in This City.

The State Assessors at the meeting held in this City yesterday tried to impress upon the Assessors of the various towns the importance of assessing property at full value. In several instances local Assessors agreed with the Board that property should be assessed at full value. It was stated that it had been the custom so long to assess it at a low rate that they did not feel inclined to make the change, for fear such action would create an uproar. One of the town Assessors said: "Yes, we took the oath, but we have not tried to conceal the fact that we assess at 50 per cent." Question by State Assessor: "When you swore 'at full value' you meant 50 per cent. of full value?" Answer: "Yes, I would prefer full value, but was overruled by the other Assessors." The State Assessors then gave this bit of advice: "Let them subscribe to the oath, and you keep your name off. Some person outside of the County may consider it a subject for indictment, and the better way for you is to do as the law says. Your town will not pay a higher tax because you do your duty." The State Assessors asked several persons what they considered the average assessment was in Ulster County, and the answer of some was 65 per cent. and of others 80 per cent. Supervisor Childs, of the town of Shawangunk, said he did not wish to criticize the Assessors, but he wished to know why a farmer who had paid for his farm, had personal property, stock, farming implements, valued at from $1,000 to $2,000, was not assessed for personal. "This failure to assess personal property makes a burden on real estate. Let all be served alike." The State Assessors said one of the depression of real estate in Ulster County is due to the fact that personal property in the towns is not assessed. In the town of Wawarsing, where the Assessors are assessing at 80 per cent., the local Assessors said the reason they do so is because they keep in the red dirt. State Assessor: "I would get out of it as quickly as I could." Town Assessor: "When we talk to people about assessing at full value it is a great terror to them." When the City of Kingston was called, Messrs. Winchell, Halliwell and Booth responded. They stated that property is assessed "about its fair and true value. In some cases a little more." "How do sales compare with the assessments?" was asked. Answer: "In some cases assessments are higher than sales. In other cases lower. The average is about equal." The City Assessors were questioned as to the value of a number of pieces of property and were able to give the amounts they are assessed for without looking in their book, and the actual value. In most cases property assessed up to the full value, and sometimes higher. In one case the Ingalls property sold to the County for the erection of the addition to the Clerk's and Surrogate's building for $3,500, the assessment was $4,000. The City Assessor and assessors were asked how they assessed bank stock and securities. "We take the current value to the capital stock, deduct assessment on real estate, find how much each share is, and generally deduct 75 per cent. for contingencies."

LOCAL EDUCATIONAL MATTERS NOTED.

The Boards of Education of Ulster Academy and Kingston Hold Meetings.

A special meeting of the Kingston Board of Education was held last night. Tax-payers were heard in relation to corrections on the tax roll personally or by petition. Among them were Howard Chipp, Jr., John L. Van Aken, Andrew Schutt, S. R. Deyo, A. L. Doran, Mrs. Eliza Ann Sleight, A. Schoonmaker, Mrs. E. L. Dodge, Mrs. F. Gallagher, Mrs. James M. Shafer, Christian B. Smith. In a number of instances the roll was revised. The question regarding a lower rate of insurance was discussed. After reading over propositions of agents it was found that a saving could be effected of $400. It was decided to instruct the Finance Committee to place the insurance with C. V. DuBois, the lowest bidder. The bond of the Collector was fixed at $46,000.

The result of Regents' examinations held in Kingston Academy last week for the school year just closing shows that this old institution is entitled to 77 Regents' preliminary certificates. Last year the number secured was 63. This indicates a steady improvement in the work of the Academy. At Ulster Academy the increase in the number of certificates granted is 39 per cent. larger than last year. This is a remarkably good showing.

Last night the members of the Board of Education of Ulster Academy held a meeting and reappointed the same corps of teachers and at the same salaries. The Trustees reported that all the arrangements for the Commencement exercises had been satisfactorily perfected.

The New-York Board of Education will recommend object lessons as part of the course of instruction and discontinuance of the French and German courses. Sensible!

The Regents of this State say that Ulster Academy now ranks as one of the leading academies of the State. The Academy is an honor to this City.

A prize contest in declamation will be held at Kingston Academy on the evening of June 27.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT.

THE GIST OF THE BUSINESS TRANSACTED THERE TO-DAY.

A Verdict for the Full Amount Claimed in The Note Case Rendered in Favor of Mrs. Bruyn—Asking for $5,000 Damages For Alleged Negligence in a Quarry.

In the Circuit Court here to-day the jury in the case of Elizabeth R. Bruyn vs. Benjamin Russell et al., Executors of the late Jacob DeWitt, rendered a verdict for the plaintiff for $5,391.66, the full amount of the claim with interest. The action was brought on a note of $5,000, which Mrs. Bruyn says Jacob DeWitt gave her, the consideration being an engagement of marriage. After DeWitt's death payment on the note was refused. The case was tried before Judge Ingalls a few years ago and a verdict rendered for the plaintiff. Upon an appeal being taken by the defendant it was sent back for a new trial.

The present trial has occupied eight days. The jurors retired about 7 o'clock last evening and were out all night. At first they stood seven for the plaintiff and five for the defendant. Early this morning they stood nine for plaintiff and three for the defendant. After breakfast they agreed to bring in a verdict for the plaintiff. A. T. Clearwater appeared for Mrs. Bruyn, J. N. Fiero for the defense.

No. 55, James S. McPherson, Receiver, against Lucinda DeWitt et al., was tried. This action was brought to set aside a deed for a farm of land in the town of Woodstock. The deed was given by Lucinda DeWitt to Chauncey DeWitt, her son. The plaintiff claimed the conveyance was fraudulent and void, the defense that it was made in good faith and for full consideration. At the close of the testimony, Judge Edwards decided the action was not a case for a jury to act upon, being a question of law. It will be argued at the first Special Term.

No. 112, Statia Cullen, Administratrix, against Frederick O. Norton, was taken up. It is an action for alleged negligence, damages being claimed of $5,000. The husband of plaintiff was killed in Norton's quarry. The plaintiff was not suited at the June Circuit in 1888. The General Term reversed that decision and ordered a new trial.

BOATS AND BOATMEN HEREAABOUT. Marine Intelligence Along the Docks Here and at Long Shore Points.

A boat for carrying grain is being built on Clinton Hill-street, at South Rondout, for Captain John Kettle, of New-York City. The boat will be of 550 tons burthen. A coal lighter, 700 tons burthen, is also being built at the same yard for a New-York party.

The large Scranton, one of five large barges built for the Delaware & Hudson Canal Company, last winter, is in Rondout Creek after 1,150 tons of coal for Boston. The Scranton is provided with masts and sails.

Freighting is "picking up" on the Hudson River.

Of Interest to Owners of Goats Here. The Athens correspondent of the Cornwall News writes: "The majority of citizens here do not expect to be placed among the goats and neither do they desire to have goats placed among them. Hence their wish to have those who are placed in authority over both the sheep and the goats to see to it that there is no trespass of those goats on the spaces allotted to them in this haven of bliss. To all well-meaning people the society of goats is objected to, both in this world and in the next, for who is there that wishes to be placed among the goats, and if Corporation Counsel Brooks is lord and master over all which he surveys, why does not he use his powers to separate the goats from the sheep. A goat may be a nice ornament in the eyes of some people, but there are those who prefer them in some one's back yard to having them in front of their own door. The idea of having a goat at one end of a string and a boy on the other may improve the picture, but it does not excuse the officers of the law from doing their duty. Therefore we say let them gather up the goats and trade them off for a yellow dog. Baa! baa!"

It Costs Less.

On the question of real economy Hood's Sarsaparilla is so far ahead of other preparations as to place them entirely out of the race as competitors. Here are facts in regard to this popular medicine, easily susceptible of conclusive proof:

1. It costs the consumer less than any other medicine, because of its great concentrated strength and the quantity in each bottle, and because it is the only preparation of which can truly be said, "100 Doses One Dollar."

2. It costs the druggist more, as a consequence of the fact just stated.

3. It costs the Retail Druggist more, for the same reason, as can easily be learned by inquiry. Hence the desire of some retailers to let our own preparations, which costs them less, and for which they get the same price, thus making more money. But

4. It costs the Consumer less than any other medicine, because of its great concentrated strength and the quantity in each bottle, and because it is the only preparation of which can truly be said, "100 Doses One Dollar."

That the people appreciate this is shown by the fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla has the Largest Sale of any Sarsaparilla or blood purifier. It possesses peculiar merit and effects wonderful cures.

A Point for You.

When you buy a medicine, you want the best. Ask for Hood's Sarsaparilla, and insist upon having it. Do not let any argument or persuasion influence you to buy what you do not want. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Last spring I was completely lagged out. My strength left me and I felt sick and miserable all the time, so that I could hardly attend to my business. I procured one bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it cured me." R. C. BEALE, Editor Enterprise, Belleville, Mich.

Rain and Shade Trees—The Busy Hum of Industry—Catholic Mutual Benefit Society—On the Track of Tricky Grocers—What Street Gamins Do—Some Deductions.

A recent exploit of John Maxwell's Italian cat exceeds its former efforts. According to the story told by its owner to-day, a few evenings ago the cat entered the Maxwell store with a fish-line in its mouth. On the hook end of the line was a live eel. Maxwell said that there was no doubt that the cat had "been fishing." Christopher Murray was present when the cat entered the store with the eel. Maxwell and Murray vouch for the truth of this remarkable yarn.

The following reasonable communication appears in the Fredrick Journal: "On account of the continuous rain the trees are laden to an unusual degree with foliage, thus causing the limbs to droop more than common, and in many places the sidewalks have become almost impassable on this account. If the Corporation Roadmaster desires to become a public benefactor he will at once cause these lower limbs to be removed."

The memorial monument of the One Hundred and Twentieth Regiment on the battlefield of Gettysburg will be dedicated on Tuesday, June 25. The survivors of the Regiment and friends who will accompany them will leave this City on Monday morning, June 24. Yesterday there reported to Albert Carr, Secretary of the Regimental Association, 125 members of the body, who signified their intention of going.

Fredrickberg believes in early closing, being a liberal man. "Schankey," he said, "is not a liberal man. He has a sign in the window that says 'Close at six o'clock on Sunday nights, for next week's week.' It will give der clerks a chance for a rest and refreshment. Pizness was purty dull, anyhow, Schankey, and we will set a good example."

Between the hours of 12 and 1 o'clock today a Delaware & Hudson Canal Company shoveler dropped into the Rondout Creek an iron trimming board. A little slate-picker volunteered to recover it. One end of a pole was stuck in the bottom of the creek. Down this pole the little fellow went seven times before he recovered the board.

Jacob Brink, aged 77 years, lives on Wall-street. For some time past he has been slightly deranged. Last night he left his house and did not return. Though nearly every resident in the neighborhood went in search of him he could not be found. This morning he returned home and said he had passed the night in Noone's Woods.

It is told of a pious, well-meaning man here that on one occasion while offering up a prayer in Sunday School he referred to the Superintendent in this manner: "And O, God, bless the Superintendent, who has led such a long, tedious Christian life." Even the Superintendent could not suppress a smile.

A Green-street man is the owner of a cow that he covers with a blanket when it is in the pasture lot. The owner, it is said, is so conscientious that he believes that if he did not do so that when it rains water might in some way get into the milk.

It is pointed out that parents cannot be too careful in the matter of purchasing stockings for their children in summer, when there is irritation of the skin and more or less perspiration. Cases of poisoning have been heard of lately.

At 6 o'clock this morning the atmosphere was so muggy and oppressive that it was believed that the day would be a "seacher," but two hours later the air became clear and a refreshing breeze sprang up.

Albany people come to this City when they want good horses. Yesterday three fine horses were shipped from here to that City for the Beverley Brewing Company. One of the animals cost $550.

This forenoon a stone weighing over 18 tons, drawn by eight horses, attracted attention on Union-avenue. The avenue will soon be utterly ruined. Such loads cut deep ruts in the road.

"Brickyarders" have a more favorable reputation in this City than at points between Newburgh and Poughkeepsie. In that locality they are not allowed to ride on passenger steamboats.

In "old times," and not more than 20 years ago at that, merchants went to New-York City and purchased their goods. The goods are now sold to them almost wholly by drummers.

ASSESSING PROPERTY IN ULSTER CO.

Statements Made Before the Board of State Assessors in This City.

The State Assessors at the meeting held in this City yesterday tried to impress upon the Assessors of the various towns the importance of assessing property at full value. In several instances local Assessors agreed with the Board that property should be assessed at full value. It was stated that it had been the custom so long to assess it at a low rate that they did not feel inclined to make the change, for fear such action would create an uproar. One of the town Assessors said: "Yes, we took the oath, but we have not tried to conceal the fact that we assess at 50 per cent." Question by State Assessor—"When you swore 'at full value' you meant 50 per cent. of full value?" Answer—"Yes, I would prefer full value, but was overruled by the other Assessors." The State Assessors then gave this bit of advice: "Let them subscribe to the oath, and you keep your name off. Some person outside of the County may consider it a subject for indictment, and the letter way for you is to do as the laws say. Your town will not pay a higher tax because you do your duty." The State Assessors asked several persons what they considered the average assessment was in Ulster County, and the answer of some was 65 per cent, and of others 80 per cent. Supervisor of the town of Shawangunk, said he did not wish to criticize the Assessors, but he wished to know why a farmer who had paid for his farm, had personal property, stock, farming implements, valued at from $1,000 to $2,000, was not assessed for personal. "This failure to assess personal property makes a burden on real estate. Let all be served alike." The State Assessors said one cause of the depression of real estate in Ulster County is due to the fact that personal property in the towns is not assessed. In the town of Wawarsing, where the Assessors are assessing at 33 1/2 per cent., the local Assessors said the reason they do so is because they keep in the old rut. State Assessor—"I would get out of it as quickly as I could." Town Assessor—"When we talk to people about assessing at full value it is a great terror to them." When the City of Kingston was called, Messrs. Winchell, Hilson and Booth responded. They stated that property is assessed at "about its fair and true value. In some cases a little more." "How do sales compare with the assessments?" was asked. Answer—"In some cases assessments are higher than sales, in other cases lower. The average is about equal." The City Assessors were questioned as to the value of a number of pieces of property and were able to give the amounts they are assessed for without looking in their book, and the actual value. In most cases property is assessed up to the full value, and sometimes higher. In one case, the Ingalls property sold to the City for the erection of the new Court House, the Surrogate's building for $3,500, the assessment had been at a lower figure. The Assessors were asked how they assessed bank stock and answered: "We take the surplus, and to the capital stock, deduct assessment on real estate, find how much each share is, and generally deduct 5 per cent. for contingencies."

LOCAL EDUCATIONAL MATTERS NOTED.

The Boards of Education of Ulster Academy and Kingston Hold Meetings.

A special meeting of the Kingston Board of Education was held last night. The members were heard in relation to corrections on the tax roll personally or by petition. Among them were Howard Chip, Jr., John L. Van Aken, Andrew Schutt, S. R. Deyo, A. L. Doran, Mrs. Eliza Ann Sleight, A. Schoonmaker, Mrs. E. L. Dodge, Mrs. F. Gallagher, Mrs. James M. Shurt, and Christian B. Smith. In number of instances the roll was revised. The question regarding a lower rate of insurance was discussed. After reading over propositions of agents it was found that a saving could be effected of $400. It was decided to instruct the Finance Committee to place the insurance with C. V. DuBois, the lowest bidder. The bond of the Collector was fixed at $16,000.

The result of Regents' examinations held in Kingston Academy last week for the school year just closing shows that this old institution is entitled to 77 Regents' preliminary certificates. Last year the number secured was 63. This indicates a steady improvement in the work of the Academy. At Ulster Academy the increase in the number of certificates granted is 39 per cent. larger than last year. This is a remarkably good showing.

Last night the members of the Board of Education of Ulster Academy held a meeting and reapportioned the same corps of teachers and at the same salaries. The trustees reported that all the arrangements for the Commencement exercises had been satisfactorily perfected.

The New York Board of Education will recommend official lessons as part of the course of instruction and discontinue the French and German courses. Sensible! The Regents of this State say that Ulster Academy now ranks as one of the leading academies of the State. The Academy is an honor to this City.

A prize contest in declamation will be held at Kingston Academy on the evening of June 27.

A recent exploit of John Maxwell's Italian cat exceeds its former efforts. According to the story told by its owner to-day, a few evenings ago the cat entered the Maxwell store with a fish-line in its mouth. Maxwell said that there was no doubt that the cat had "been fishing." Christopher Murray was present when the cat entered the store with the eel. Maxwell and Murray vouch for the truth of this remarkable yarn.

The following seasonable communication appears in the Fishkill Journal: "On account of the continuous rain the trees are laden to an unusual degree with foliage, thus causing the limbs to droop more than common, and in many places the sidewalks have become almost impassable on this account. If the Corporation Roadmaster desires to become a public benefactor he will at once cause these lower limbs to be removed."

The memorial monument of the One Hundred and Twentieth Regiment on the battlefield of Gettysburg will be dedicated on Tuesday, June 25. The survivors of the Regiment and friends who will accompany them will leave this City on Monday morning, June 24. Yesterday there reported to Albert Carr, Secretary of the Regimental Association, 125 members of that body, who signified their intention of going.

Fredrichergh believes in early closing, being a liberal man, "Schaky," he said, this morning to his son, "put a sign in the window that this store will close at six o'clock on Sunday nights, for der next vier weeks. It will give der clerk a chance for a rest and refreshment. Princes van curty dull, anyhow, Schaky, and ye will set a good example."

Between the hours of 12 and 1 o'clock to-day a Delaware & Hudson Canal Company shoveller dropped into the Rondout Creek on trimmings board. A little slate-picker volunteered to recover it. One end of a pole was stuck in the bottom of the creek. Down this pole the little fellow went seven times before he recovered the board.

Jacob Brink, aged 77 years, lives on Wall-street. For some time past he has been slightly deranged. Last night he left his house and did not return. Though nearly every resident in the neighborhood went in search of him he could not be found. This morning he returned home and said he had passed the night in Noone's Woods.

It is told of a pious, well-meaning man here that on one occasion while offering up a prayer in Sunday School he referred to the Superintendent in this manner: "And O, God, bless the Superintendent, who has led such a long, tedious Christian life." Even the Superintendent could not suppress a smile.

ASSESSING PROPERTY IN ULSTER CO.

Statements Made Before the Board of State Assessors in This City.

The State Assessors at the meeting held in this City yesterday tried to impress upon the Assessors of the various towns the importance of assessing property at full value. In several instances local Assessors agreed with the Board that property should be assessed at full value. It was stated that it had been the custom so long to assess it at a low rate that they did not feel inclined to make the change, for fear such action would create an uproar. One of the town Assessors said: "Yes, we took the oath, but we have not tried to conceal the fact that we assess at 50 per cent." Question by State Assessor: "When you swore 'at full value' you meant 50 per cent. of full value?" Answer: "Yes, I would prefer full value, but was overruled by the other Assessors." The State Assessors then gave this bit of advice: "Let them subscribe to the oath, and you keep your name off. Some people outside of the County may consider it a subject for indictment, and the better way for you is to do as the law says. Your town will not pay a higher tax because you do your duty." The State Assessors asked several persons what they considered the average assessment was in Ulster County, and the answer of some was 65 per cent. and others 50 per cent. Supervisor Childs, of the town of Shawangunk, said he did not wish to criticize the Assessors, but he wished to know why a farmer who had paid for his farm, had personal property, stock, farming implements, valued at from $1,000 to $2,000, was not assessed for personal. "This failure to assess personal property makes a burden on real estate. Let all be served alike." The State Assessors said: "The cause of the depression of real estate in Ulster County is due to the fact that personal property in the towns is not assessed. In the town of Wawarsing, where the Assessors are assessing at 34 per cent., 50 per cent. Assessors think the reason they do so is because they keep in the old rut. State Assessor: "I would get out of it as quickly as I could." Town Assessor: "When I talk to people about assessing at full value it is a great terror to them." When the City of Kingston was called, Messrs. Winchell, Hallahan and Booth responded. They stated that property is assessed at "about its fair and true value. In some cases a little more." "How do sales compare with the assessments?" was asked. Answer: "In some cases assessments are higher than sales, in other cases lower. The average is about equal." The State Assessors were questioned as to the value of a number of pieces of property and were able to give the amounts they are assessed for without looking in their book, and the actual value. In most cases property is assessed up to the full value, and sometimes higher. In one case, the Ingalls property sold to the County for the erection of the addition to the Clerk and Surrogate's building for $3,500, the assessment had been at $1,000. The State Assessors were asked how they assessed bank stock and answered: "We take the surplus, add to the capital stock, deduct assessment on real estate, find how much share is in, and generally deduct 5 per cent. for contingencies."

Between the hours of 12 and 1 o'clock to-day a Delaware & Hudson Canal Company shoveller dropped into the Rondout Creek on trimmings board. A little slate-picker volunteered to recover it.
